

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 18 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Sunny spells and showers again tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:

Further showers, heavy at times, affecting southern UK and some rain for northern Scotland. Elsewhere, daytime showers largely dying out this evening leaving a dry and chilly night with a few fog patches.

Wednesday:

Another day of sunny spells and showers, heaviest and most frequent over southeast Scotland and eastern and southeastern England. Drier in Wales and southwest England later.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

Very unsettled on Thursday and Friday with wet and windy weather for most, gales possible in the south. Drier and less windy on Saturday but still with showers. Staying cool.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.